A word is represented by only one set of numbers as given in any one of the alternatives. The sets of numbers given in the alternatives are represented by two classes of alphabets as shown in the given two matrices. The columns and rows of Matrix-I are numbered from 0 to 4 and that of Matrix-II are numbered from 5 to 9. A letter from these matrices can be represented first by its row and next by its column, for example, 'L' can be represented by 11, 42, etc., and 'A' can be represented by 65, 96, etc. Similarly, you have to identify the set for the word "FISH".

एक शब्द केवल एक संख्या-समूह द्वारा दर्शाया गया है, जैसा कि विकल्पों में से किसी एक में दिया गया है। विकल्पों में दिए गए संख्या-समूह अक्षरों के दो वर्गों द्वारा दर्शाए गए हैं, जैसा कि दिए गए दो आव्यूहों में है। आव्यूह-I के स्तम्भ और पंक्ति की संख्या 0 से 4 है और आव्यूह-II की 5 से 9। इन आव्यूहों से एक अक्षर को पहले उसकी पंक्ति और बाद में स्तम्भ संख्या द्वारा दर्शाया जा सकता है। उदाहरण के लिए 'L' को 11, 42, आदि द्वारा दर्शाया जा सकता है तथा 'A' को 65, 96, आदि द्वारा दर्शाया जा सकता है। इसी तरह से आपको प्रश्न में दिए शब्द "FISH" के लिए समूह को पहचानना है।

Matrix-I आव्यूह-I					Matrix-II आव्यूह-II
0	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
0	P	I	Y	F	L	5	H	S	E	A	P
1	F	L	P	I	Y	6	A	P	H	S	E
2	I	Y	F	L	P	7	S	E	A	P	H
3	L	P	I	Y	F	8	P	H	S	E	A
4	Y	F	L	P	I	9	E	A	P	H	S

QID : 396 - A passage is given with five questions following it. Read the passage carefully and select the best answer to each question out of the given four alternatives.

Morality is identified with ethics and symbolizes the doctrine of actions right or wrong. Politics is the notion of expediency and need not always be right. If something is wrong and merely expedient; it cannot be moral. To put it the other way round, whatever is right or just, or born of sound principles and designed to promote the social good, cannot be immoral. There appears a basic confrontation between morality and politics.

The great Utilitarian Bentham maintains that, "The greatest happiness of the greatest numbers is the foundation of morals and legislation." However, often it is found that there is a conflict between convictions and principles, on the one hand, and expediency on the other. Thus, morality and politics do not often go hand in hand, for politics is based upon expediency and its foundations are of 'power'. Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely, said Lord Acton and surely enough, corruption cannot breed morality. While morality establishes justice and fair play, politics, as Sidney Hillman opines, is the science of who gets what, when and why. Morality requires an equitable distribution of wealth, goods and commodities and opportunities while politics reeks of opportunism, of grabbing and seizing whatever you can, irrespective of the needs and claims of others. Morality stands for justice of all, while the politicians are generally selfish and self-seeking. All this goes to show that morality and politics do not go together. Any democracy today merely reiterates the story of a struggle for power, for perpetuating the safe citadel, and for keeping at bay any kind of opposition or criticism. Political parties symbolize nothing more than a bitter rivalry and quest for power by ousting all other rivals. Means and methods are thrown to the winds as long as selfish short-term aims and objectives are duly achieved and fulfilled. On the other hand, morals and morality do not permit the adoption of just any means. Values are the foremost consideration. The traditional values which are in themselves moral, and symbols of rectitude and righteousness, have undergone a radical change in our modern times. Most of the cherished old values and morals are being sacrificed at the altar of circumstances for the sake of expediency and quick gains. The current political atmosphere and scene in most parts of the world is devoid of moral ardour and sound convictions. Opportunism has become a matter of faith with politicians or those having even a slight bent of mind towards politics. Patriotism has come to be identified with politics and well illustrates Johnson's dictum of patriotism being the last refuge of scoundrels.

What do you mean by the line "Politics is the notion of expediency"?

Options:

- 1) politics promotes social good
- 2) politics proves everything to be right even if it is wrong
- 3) politics is an indispensable part of one's life

QID : 398 - A passage is given with five questions following it. Read the passage carefully and select the best answer to each question out of the given four alternatives.

Morality is identified with ethics and symbolizes the doctrine of actions right or wrong. Politics is the notion of expediency and need not always be right. If something is wrong and merely expedient; it cannot be moral. To put it the other way round, whatever is right or just, or born of sound principles and designed to promote the social good, cannot be immoral. There appears a basic confrontation between morality and politics.

The great Utilitarian Bentham maintains that, "The greatest happiness of the greatest numbers is the foundation of morals and legislation." However, often it is found that there is a conflict between convictions and principles, on the one hand, and expediency on the other. Thus, morality and politics do not often go hand in hand, for politics is based upon expediency and its foundations are of 'power'. Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely, said Lord Acton and surely enough, corruption cannot breed morality. While morality establishes justice and fair play, politics, as Sidney Hillman opines, is the science of who gets what, when and why. Morality requires an equitable distribution of wealth, goods and commodities and opportunities while politics reeks of opportunism, of grabbing and seizing whatever you can, irrespective of the needs and claims of others. Morality stands for justice of all, while the politicians are generally selfish and self-seeking. All this goes to show that morality and politics do not go together. Any democracy today merely reiterates the story of a struggle for power, for perpetuating the safe citadel, and for keeping at bay any kind of opposition or criticism. Political parties symbolize nothing more than a bitter rivalry and quest for power by ousting all other rivals. Means and methods are thrown to the winds as long as selfish short-term aims and objectives are duly achieved and fulfilled. On the other hand, morals and morality do not permit the adoption of just any means. Values are the foremost consideration. The traditional values which are in themselves moral, and symbols of rectitude and righteousness, have undergone a radical change in our modern times. Most of the cherished old values and morals are being sacrificed at the altar of circumstances for the sake of expediency and quick gains. The current political atmosphere and scene in most parts of the world is devoid of moral ardour and sound convictions. Opportunism has become a matter of faith with politicians or those having even a slight bent of mind towards politics. Patriotism has come to be identified with politics and well illustrates Johnson's dictum of patriotism being the last refuge of scoundrels.
